Witness Tells Of Being Shot By Kunselman

Defendant In Washington,
Pa., Murder Trial Shows
Nervousness

TWO MOTIVES ARE STRESSED IN CRIME

Commonwealth Presents
More Evidence In Murder Of Dorothy
Horne

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 20.—Events of the fateful June night which ended with the slaying of pretty Dorothy Virginia Horne, 19, held the rapt attention of spectators who jammed the Washington county courthouse today for the murder trial of Ray Kunselman, 35, the girl's sweetheart.

Kunselman, displaying the first signs of nervousness since he went on trial, squirmed in his seat as Walter Jacobs, a beer parlor proprietor, told in broken English how he was held up, robbed and shot by the defendant on that June night.

Robbed And Shot
Jacobs said Kunselman robbed him of between $3 and $5 and then shot him when he was unable to produce $200 more. He wore the same suit in the courtroom today and showed the jury where the bullet pierced his belt and trousers. While the robbery took place, the commonwealth charges, Dorothy Virginia sat outside in Kunselman's car, forced to go with him on a "date" that night to save her mother, Mrs. Iva Horne, from a beating at Kunselman's language which was some times difficult to understand. The crowds were so intense.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Only a few more days work remains on the completion of the great Croton wall, which has been one of the largest relief projects undertaken here. The entire face of the wall from the Pennsylvania R. R. crossing to a point near the top of the hill was faced with heavy sandstone, and a wall was built from the bottom of the hill to Walnut street. All that now remains to be done is to place a few of the stone caps on the top of the wall.

The census figures at the Jameson Memorial hospital dropped off slightly today, after reaching the high point of 110 at midnight Monday. The hospital has been crowded all summer, the average number of patients ranging from around 90 up.

PA News feels that the dreary-looking old post office is rapidly becoming "the forgotten building." Every day a large group of community-minded citizens look for the news that it will be converted into a library. And even though they've not read that news yet, they keep hoping. In less than a month's time the building will have been vacant one long year. Its splendid possibilities are too great to allow it to waste away without some sort of occupancy much longer!

You haven't forgotten, have you? That's right, we mean the community card party of the Elks on Friday night! It will be held in the Elks club home, a splendid place to enjoy an evening. The best part about it is that your money will go to New Castle's two hospitals and to the worthy charity fund of the Elks lodge. It's approaching Christmas and that charity fund, like in the past, will be called upon to distribute lots of cheer. The hospital work needs no praise for it's told daily.

Britain To Renew Efforts For Peace

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 20.—Still seeking to effect peace in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, the British government has decided to renew negotiations with France and with Premier Mussolini, it was reported today.

Britain wants to hold almost immediate discussions with France to find a basis for settlement. The government also has instructed Ambassador Sir Eric Drummond in Rome to contact Il Duce as soon as possible and sound him out on the possibility of conciliation among Italy, Ethiopia and the League of Nations.

Sir Eric has been asked to find out what basis for settlement of the conflict Mussolini is willing to discuss.

PLANE ATTACK
FORCED RETREAT

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
ROME, Nov. 20.—Italian planes flew over the Buia area checking up on the effects of the airplane bombardment there Monday against a concentration of 20,000 Ethiopian troops and found that the enemy had retreated, the newspaper Tevere reported today from Makale.

In a dispatch from Adigrat the same newspaper said native informers claim another Ethiopian column is moving toward Seelicot and declare the Ethiopians are preparing to attack the Italian lines between Dolo and Makale.

It was also reported the April 21 division of black shirts left for an offensive reconnaissance of Hausista, where they began building roads and constructing fortifications.

Ellsworth On Long Flight

Seeks To Fly Across Unknown Portions Of The Antarctic

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Heading across unknown portions of the Antarctic, Lincoln Ellsworth took off from Dundee Island on a projected 2,100-mile flight from the Wedell Sea to the Ross Sea at 2:50 a. m. (E. S. T.), a dispatch to the North American Newspaper Alliance and the New York Times stated.

Ellsworth's plane was piloted by Herbert Holick-Kenyon. In following the Antarctic route to Admiral Richard E. Byrd's former base at Little America, Ellsworth hopes to complete maps of the region he calls the "great unknown."

A supply ship will leave Dundee Island for the Bay of Wales which it expects to reach in five weeks, the dispatch said. Ellsworth and his pilot will await arrival of the ship at Little America.

Former Senator Reed Will Not Run For Office

Former U. S. Senator Says, "I
Lack Political Sex Appeal"

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Former U. S. Senator David A. Reed with the candid observation that he lacked "political sex appeal" today removed himself from the picture as a presidential possibility.

Explaining "political sex appeal," Reed said:

"Roosevelt has it but I discovered last year that I didn't. I'm not a candidate for any public office."

Reed, long a Republican stalwart, was defeated last year by Joseph P. Guffey, Democrat, for re-election.

Although New York reports said Reed was a 1 to 20 shot to win the Republican presidential nomination, the former senator said he was too busy enjoying himself to become a political candidate again although he expected to continue as Republican national committeeman.

Fire Threatens Business Block

Blaze In Cellar Of Hamilton
Block Causes Damage
Last Evening

SMOKE CAUSE OF MOST DAMAGE

Fire of undetermined origin, which was discovered in the cellar of the Hamilton Block, at the corner of Mill and North streets, at 7:10 last evening, filled the building with smoke and caused firemen considerable concern for a time. There was little loss from fire but damage was done to the stock in the stores, occupying the first floor, by the clouds of smoke which rolled out of the basement.

The blaze started in a pile of rubbish under the front end of the cellar and when firemen arrived, dense clouds were rolling out of the cellar windows. It was practically impossible to enter the cellar, but firemen finally fought their way to the blaze, which was found to be of little consequence. The cellar was filled with a large quantity of materials, making it almost impossible to get to the seat of the blaze.

Most of the smoke damage was done to the stock in the Claire E. Brown Shop, Daniel T. O'Neill store, facing North street, and the Work Basket facing Mill street.

The loss from fire probably did not amount to more than $25 firemen estimated, but the loss to the store owners from smoke cannot be fully determined. Most of this loss is covered by insurance the occupants stated.

Long Sentence Given Girl For Slaying Father

Virginia Jury Brings In Verdict
Of Guilty In Mountain
Home Crime

(International News Service)
WISE, Va., Nov. 20.—The archaic and unwritten laws of Virginia's trail of the lonesome pine still rule these hills today, and a pretty mountain school teacher who killed her "Poppy" faces a quarter of a century in jail.

Because she killed her father when he tried to whip her for staying out late with her beau, a jury of 12 stout mountaineers found Edith Maxwell guilty of first degree murder. They could have put her life under this conviction, but they elected to take her youth instead.

Barring time off for good behavior, Edith, now a raven-haired and clear-skinned girl, will be a 46-year-old woman when she emerges from the state penitentiary, if her appeals fail. Mountain women grow old early.

Baruso Fighting To Stay In Ohio

District Attorney Mont L. Ailey
Leaves For Extradition
Hearing Today

District Attorney Mont L. Ailey left for Columbus, O., today to be present at a hearing before Governor Martin Davey, on extradition papers for Sam Baruso. The papers were taken to Columbus by Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard yesterday, immediately upon their arrival here.

In the meantime Attorney Nate Kaufman, representing Baruso, filed a petition asking for a hearing. This will be held this afternoon upon the arrival of District Attorney Ailey. Mr. Ailey will get into Columbus about 1 o'clock. It is expected that a strenuous fight will be put up to keep Baruso from being extradited.

Baruso, who is at large under $15,000 bail is wanted here for sentence on a conspiracy charge in connection with the "numbers" racket.

U. S. May Sacrifice Trade With Italy To Aid Neutrality

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—This government is prepared to sacrifice America's $60,000,000 export trade with Italy in the cause of American neutrality.

The view prevails in high official quarters that American traders, especially the oil industry, should ignore Rome's threat to cut off America's export trade if Italy is unable to purchase oil here for its war machinery.

If Italy should boycott American goods because of this government's neutrality stand, it is felt such action would open new markets to American trade in the nations imposing sanctions against Italy, and that these would more than compensate whatever losses sustained in Italy.

Reaction To Italy's Threat

This view represented the reaction in official quarters to Italy's threat to cut off American trade if this government's neutrality policy makes it impossible for Italy to secure needed oil supplies here.

The increased sale of American oranges, lemons and grapes to Great Britain especially were cited as products for which American trade might find a new and lucrative market if Italy's ban on American exports. Great Britain formerly purchased large quantities of these products from Italy.

Sale of other goods which Italy hitherto has sold France, Spain and other league powers also was foreseen.

However, the willingness of Britain and the league powers to hand over the Italian markets immediately to the United States was admittedly a hope on the part of officials rather than a certainty.

Nevertheless, it was pointed out

May Send Expedition To Hunt For Redfern

(International News Service)
COLON, C. Z., Nov. 20.—Vague but recurrent stories that Paul Redfern, Georgia aviator lost eight years ago on a flight to Rio de Janeiro, is still alive in the jungles of Dutch Guiana, today has caused the Colon post of the American Legion to vote organization and financing of an expedition for his rescue.

"Representing the last outpost of American civilization," the legion resolution read, "we regard it our duty to rescue our fellow American in distress."

Funds will be raised by popular subscription and the personnel of the expedition will be comprised of volunteers among the legion members.

Reports that Redfern is alive in the jungle have been more frequent of late. On October 2, William La Varre, New York explorer, was quoted at Port of Spain, Trinidad, as saying that he was sure Redfern was in the jungle living with the natives in a crippled condition which made his departure impossible.

In June of this year Tom Roche, formerly of Rochester, N. Y., signed an affidavit at Colon that he had lived for three months with Redfern in a jungle village.

Three Are Dead From Poisoning

San Francisco Health Authorities Issue Warning
Of Danger

BULK SODA PLACED IN POISON BARREL

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—A warning broadcast throughout the city, particularly in the Mission district, apparently had saved scores of lives today from poisoned baking soda purchased by hundreds of housewives at a Mission street salvage store.

Health authorities acted feverishly to stem wholesale deaths after Alfred Terry, 31, his daughter, Mrs. Bessie Shufelt, 53, and Mrs. Katherine Ogle, 60, died after taking some baking soda to relieve indigestion.

"A half teaspoonful of the soda contains a lethal amount of arsenic," Dr. J. C. Geiger, director of public health, declared.

Another analysis, by Professor Frank T. Green, city toxicologist, revealed not only arsenic but also "fluoride in poisonous quantities," according to Coroner T. B. W. Leland.

In addition to the three deaths, nine cases of poisoning were traced to the deadly baking soda.

Nine hundred pounds of the baking soda was sold in bulk at the Mission street store. It had been on sale since October 23. The owners reported it was purchased from a local fire salvage dealer.

According to Dr. Geiger, the soda had been mistakenly placed in barrels which once contained the poison.

Dr. Geiger declared he will ask for the arrest of the salvage dealer and possibly others involved on charges of criminal negligence.

Pittsburgh Infant Fatally Poisoned; Brothers Are Ill

Believe Tainted Food Responsible For Death And Illness
Of Family

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Tainted food was suspected today as the cause of the death of Margaret Brugas, 2, and the illness of her two brothers, Albert, 8, and Edward, 6, in the Homestead hospital.

The death and illness followed the regular family meal last Friday. The children and their mother, Mrs. George Brugas, became ill, 10, and the grandfather were unaffected.

Their pains became acute last night and the three children were taken to the hospital where Dr. E. V. McCormick was able to save the two boys.

Samples of the meal which consisted of home-pickled cabbage bought from a huckster, home-prepared apple dumplings and beans from a grocery store, were being tested by deputy coroners.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 20.—Although believed off for an inspection of Ethiopia's battlefronts, the whereabouts of Emperor Haile Selassie was absolutely unknown today.

Even his closest advisors were ignorant—or professed to be ignorant—regarding his movements.

Officials termed reports purporting to give the emperor's exact whereabouts the "purest speculation." It was fairly definitely established, however, that he had not yet returned to Addis Ababa from the airplane flight on which he left the capital yesterday.

It was presumed he would visit both the northern and southern fronts, but it was not known where he would go first.

Officials here said the whereabouts of the emperor was not being disclosed "for obvious reasons."

Japanese Plunge Into Fever-

PEIPING, Nov. 20.—Governors of two of the five Chinese provinces which had been scheduled to join the Pro-Japanese autonomous federation of North China today, in an eleventh-hour surprise move, balked the expected establishment of the new state.

Promulgation of the new North China regime was retarded indefinitely as the two governors at the last minute failed to come to Peiping for ceremonies today at which the federation was to have been formally established.

Japanese Caught Unawares
The unexpected bolt caught entirely unawares the Japanese military leaders who had been pushing the autonomous movement, by which the provinces of Chahar, Suiyuan, Hopei, Shantung, and Shensi were to have divorced themselves politically today from the central Chinese government at Nanking.

The Japanese militarists and diplomatic representatives immediately plunged into feverish conferences to debate the unforeseen hitch in their plans. An ultimatum delivered yesterday by Major Kenji Doihara, Japanese military leader, threatening Japanese armies would invade North China unless the regime were

There are early indications that Thanksgiving Day is near, taint so much the chilly weather, or the forests bleak and drear, taint so much the nearing snow storm, as it sweeps along the sky, its the fact that on the table now appears some pumpkin pie. In the cupboard there are spices that have come from far Cathay, and they tempt a fellow's hunger, though it's forty-one today, and it's mean and wet and drizzly, all those things are out my friend, for Thanksgiving eats are coming and they're just around the bend.

SEE ANGLLO-AMERICAN PACT

Great Britain And U. S. May Agree Upon Arms Limitation Basis

JAPAN DEMANDS NAVAL PARITY

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The American delegation to the London naval conference, which convenes next month, will be prepared to discuss a separate Anglo-American understanding to prevent the danger of naval rivalry between the United States and Great Britain if it is found impossible to reach any general naval limitation agreement.

This was learned as President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull turned their attention to the position to be taken by this government at the conference.

Ambassador Norman H. Davis, the disarmament expert who will head the American delegation, conferred with the president and Hull.

The American willingness to discuss a separate Anglo-American understanding is, it was understood, contingent upon failure of the limitation.

If Japan's adamant demand for naval parity and Italy's present bitterness towards Great Britain blocks a general agreement and leaves the way open for unrestricted naval competition, the American delegation will be prepared to discuss a separate understanding with Britain to prevent naval rivalry between the two countries.

Although willing to discuss the understanding, this government will not be disposed to enter it before the latter part of next year. This government would prefer not to enter such an agreement so long as there is any chance at all of reaching a general naval agreement. The view prevails that hope should not be abandoned entirely until the existing treaties expire the end of next year.

Ethiopia Spurs League Action Against Italy

Counter-Protest Filed By Ethiopia To Objections By Italy

(International News Service)
GENEVA, Nov. 20.—Ethiopia spurred the League of Nations on in the sanctions war against Italy today with a counter-protest to Italy's recent formal objection to sanctions. Italy's note, addressed to individual members of the League, said sanctions were "unjust."

Ethiopia took up Italy's points one by one, refuting the Italian claim that Ethiopians were willingly submitting to Italy's "civilizing" rule.

The note denied that slavery had been wiped out in the conquered territory, and repudiated the charge that Ethiopia had huge supplies of arms and ammunition.

TWO GOVERNORS OF FIVE CHINESE PROVINCES BALK

established by noon today was forgotten.

Whether the two Chinese governors had called a Japanese bluff or not, the Japanese even denied today the ultimatum had been delivered, despite wide publication given it yesterday.

Two Deserting Governors

The two "deserting" governors were Han Fu-Chau and Shang Chen, of Shantung and Shensi provinces, respectively. They can only remain in their provincial capitals instead of coming to Peiping to assist setting up the new state, as it had been planned for them to do.

Yin Tung, director of the Peiping-Mukden railway and the outstanding Sino-Japanese negotiator in the recent moves for establishment of the independent state, took a hurried airplane trip to Nanking to confer on the new crisis.

Akira Aiyoshi, Japanese ambassador to China, rushed also to Nanking, seeking to confer with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, dictatorial leader who yesterday indicated he was amenable to setting up the new regime.

The Japanese armies massed just north of the Great Wall at Shanghai-Kuan meanwhile were not moved. Yesterday's threat to march them into North China was based on the presumption all five governors would align themselves with the Japanese move, and threatened use of the Japanese army against other Chinese elements who might oppose establishment of the autonomous federation.

Today, however, with the two governors at least temporarily opposing the move, Japanese leaders were confronted with a situation more serious than they had bargained for.

Program Collapses

Peiping, Nov. 20.—Quickly seizing his fateful opportunity when he saw that Major Kenji Doihara, special Japanese military commissioner, was creating a five-province autonomous federation in North China on a gigantic bluff, Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, Chinese war lord, today suddenly called off negotiations.

Both Chinese and Japanese authorities confirmed that the autonomous movement had collapsed totally.

Major Doihara, bitterly angry in defeat just when he had almost carried out his coup, had not had the approval of the Japanese war office when he delivered an ultimatum yesterday that the autonomous state must be created today or military action would be taken.

Doihara, sometimes referred to as the "Lawrence of Manchukuo," did not even have the wholehearted support of General Jiro Minami, head of Japan's Kwantung (continental) army, in his almost successful move to carve out another Manchukuo.

General Minami, hero of the Manchukuo campaign, sent troops to Shanghai Kuan, on the great wall, only when it appeared the Doihara was about to win.

WITNESS TELLS OF BEING SHOT BY KUNSELMAN

bailliffs were forced to lock the doors of the courtroom after all the seats and standing space were filled.

Two Motives

From Jacobs' testimony under questioning by District Attorney Warren S. Burchinal, spectators were of the opinion the commonwealth was seeking to establish one of the motives for the slaying of Dorothy Virginia.

That Kunselman killed her because he believed Jacobs died as a result of the shooting and that she had witnessed the holdup.

That Kunselman killed the girl because she sought to end their affair.

The girl's mother had testified Dorothy Virginia left home for a while to live with Kunselman at a Washington hotel when she sought to shatter the romance.

Pulls Trigger

On the night of June 12, Jacobs told the jury, Kunselman invited him to go riding along with Dorothy Virginia but he declined. Later, about 1 o'clock in the morning, Kunselman came to the beer parlor, held a gun in his stomach, rifled his pockets and demanded $200 more.

"He said, 'you think I'm fooling you? Well I mean business—now take it,' and pulled the trigger," Jacobs testified.

Jacobs drew laughs from the spectators when at the request of Defense Attorney Thomas L. Christman he demonstrated Kunselman's holdup and extracted $2 from the pockets of the embarrassed attorney.

Mrs. Horne had testified previously that Kunselman beat both her and her daughter and threatened to shoot them one time unless Dorothy Virginia "made up" under a quarrel.

Says Killing Admitted
Washington, Pa., Nov. 20.—Ernest Sickle, the grocery clerk pal of Ray Kunselman, on trial for the slaying of Dorothy Virginia Horne, 19, testified today Kunselman admitted accidentally killing his pretty sweetheart during an argument when she refused to leave town with him.

Geneva Alumni Affair Tuesday Is Fine Success

Present And Former Geneva College Students Enjoy Autumn Frolic

Happy school days spent at Geneva college were revived, Tuesday evening, when members of Geneva Alumni, and a number of present pupils, gathered in the attractively arranged Orr's Hall, Grove street, where they enjoyed an autumn festival.

Geneva college's colors, gold and white, were displayed profusely throughout the hall. A brief business session, with President Dr. N. Ginsburg in charge, took place during the course of the event. Some of the features of the program included: an old fashioned spelling bee which provided an unusual amount of entertainment, stunts and bingo. Group games also produced much fun.

At an appropriate hour, the committee served appetizing refreshments. Those in charge: Miss Rose Uhl, general chairman; Sid Lockley, door committee; Esther Levine, dining room committee; Helena Burkhardt, dining room committee; Mrs. Helen Hinish, dining room committee; Milt Patterson, decoration committee; Mrs. M. Dart, arrangement committee; Arthur Brown, games.

this hasty economic planning without full consideration of consequences. There has been no opportunity for public debate, no opportunity for adequate hearing of the groups affected.

"But this much is obvious. It means still larger imports of foreign food. It thus means further decreases in the home markets of American agriculture. It brings hardship to hundreds of thousands of dairy and other farmers. I presume it is more of the abundant life—for the Canadians."

Mr. Hoover's denunciation and a similar blast from the headquarters of the western Republican leaders here led political observers to believe the GOP will make the treaty one of the outstanding issues of the 1936 campaign.

U. S. MAY SACRIFICE TRADE WITH ITALY TO AID NEUTRALITY

The issue involved was not only the question of American trade with Italy but the broader question of American neutrality.

and $1.25 per gallon has led to the belief that Italy's oil supply is far from ample for its military campaign.

If Italy's oil supply ran out, it is felt Premier Mussolini would be forced to halt his African campaign.

With oil occupying this important role in the league sanctions move, officials here feel Great Britain and the other league powers would be quick to accuse the United States of interfering with the effectiveness of the league's peace efforts if it permitted Italy to purchase its vital oil needs here. America then would be held to blame for the failure of the League of Nations to operate in the cause of peace. This is something the state department is extremely eager to avoid.

While the United States' balance of trade with Italy is about $25,000,000 over a year's period, commerce department officials pointed out that Italy purchases but one commodity in large quantities—unmanufactured cotton.

This item alone accounted for $32,000,000 in the $64,000,000 export business by the United States to Italy during 1934. In that same period the United States purchased from Italy an aggregate of $36,759,000.

The United States buys practically nothing from Italy that cannot be obtained from European countries not now engaged in war. The largest item in Italy's shipment to the United States last year was cheese, for an aggregate of $5,973,000. Most of this is native cheese sold usually to Italian emigres or their children.

Until the hostilities in Africa, Italy purchased no coal from this country and in 1934 only $500,000 worth of crude petroleum. In the same year it bought $122,000 worth of gasoline and naphtha, and $2,796,000 worth of lubricating oils. It purchased also about $10,000,000 worth of metal.

Italy needs credit it was cited, to purchase materials abroad and to ship her wares to lands from which she must obtain supplies not available in the home country.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed by the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out 100 pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A new bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing—making bile flow freely. SPEAKER HEARD AT JUNIOR B. P. W. MEET

Most interesting was the program presented Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Junior Business and Professional Women's club in a local tavern, with the Educational committee, Sylvia Lee Martin, chairman, in charge. On this occasion members were given the privilege of hearing Mrs. Carrie Jeffery Roberts speak on "The Value of Education in Travel."

After enjoying a tasty menu served at 6 o'clock, by candle light, the group adjourned to another room where they were entertained by Mrs. Roberts, who spoke fluently on her travels. She touched on many interesting phases experienced from time to time, when touring the various countries. She told in detail of life along the Irish coast, noting the peaceful atmosphere, and mentioned the fact that there is never complete darkness. She enumerated the many advantages one has in knowing more than one language, and went on to describe the Isle of Capri. Customs of the Dutch folk were explained, and she revealed that the majority of them have adopted the English way of dressing, except on some of the islands where they retain their native costume, to satisfy the traveler. Life on the massive passenger ships was related by Mrs. Roberts, quoting the many ways they have of entertaining guests on board ship. A short discussion concluded the program.

On November 25, the Executive board will hold a meeting in the home of Alice Huffman, Wallace avenue, who will have as co-hostess, Geraldine McClelland.

BRIDGE THURSDAY AT FIELD CLUB HOUSE

(Additional Society on Page Six)

"PHEASANT" PARTY FOR TUESDAY BRIDGE

Unusually entertaining, was the afternoon "Pheasant Bean-Pot-Bridge" held in the home of Mrs. Ivan Holsinger, on Edgewood avenue, when she entertained as guests, the Tuesday Bridge club. Much originality was evident in the unique arrangement of the affair, the hostess having her tables set in heavy china, with red and white covers being used. In the center was a huge pot of old-fashioned baked beans, that proved a treat. Aides in serving were Mrs. Henry Russell and Mrs. Joseph Lindsay, the latter mother of the hostess.

Cards held attention during the remaining hours, prizes going to Mrs. G. R. Weber and Mrs. Sam Nesbitt. Special guests included Mrs. James Messner and Mrs. Henry Russell, the first mentioned receiving the hostess gift. At this meeting three new members were welcomed into the club, including Mrs. G. R. Weber, Mrs. Ivor Carlson and Mrs. B. I. French.

In two weeks Mrs. Joseph Lindsay will entertain, the place to be announced.

FERVER-NEVIN WEDDING ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Miss Ferver and Mr. Nevin have chosen as their only attendants Lois H. Fenton of New Wilmington and Thomas G. Grenfell, Jr., of Clairton, Pa. Ushers will be Charles F. Cover of Ellwood City and Phillips Brooks of Mt. Lebanon.

Both Miss Ferver and Mrs. Nevin are graduates of Westminster college and are well known throughout this vicinity.

Highland Book Club.
Mrs. C. G. Lindner will be hostess to the Highland Book club Thursday for a dessert-bridge at her home, 214 Euclid avenue.

DINNER EVENT FOR MRS. MULFORD STOUGH

Appropriate to the occasion, a distinctively cozy, home atmosphere was created in one of the downtown tearooms Monday evening for the dinner event given by the executive board and the Home department of the Lawrence County Federation for one of the state leaders, Mrs. Mulford Stough of Carlisle, Pa.

Autumn leaves, beautiful garden flowers and lighted tables made the small tables unusually attractive, with places arranged for 35 guests who included, in addition to the honoree, the executive board, heads of other departments, club presidents and members of the Home department.

Mrs. Thomas Lindsey, as chairman of the Home department, together with a capable committee composed of Mrs. W. H. Shipley, Mrs. M. M. Ingham and Mrs. N. M. McBurney, arranged the delightful courtesy for which they are to be highly complimented. It provided a means for members of the Lawrence county group to become more intimately acquainted with Mrs. Stough, who has done outstanding work throughout the country as head of the Family Relations division.

After enjoying an excellent menu, the women sat about the table having a friendly chat and discussing activities for the future.

During her stay in New Castle over Tuesday, when she addressed the county Federation at the First U. P. church meeting, Mrs. Stough was the house guest of Mrs. S. D. Pearson of Moody avenue. She departed this morning for Youngstown, where she made an address this afternoon before one of the women's organizations of that city.

GOLDEN WEDDING AT SONNTAG HOME

At noon a golden jubilee dinner was served with the family in attendance and during the afternoon and evening hours a reception was held at which scores of friends and relatives attended.

Flowers added to the color of the occasion and a number of gifts of remembrance were given Mr. and Mrs. Sonntag in honor of the happy occasion.

BRIDGE AT EIGHT CLUB IN TEAROOM

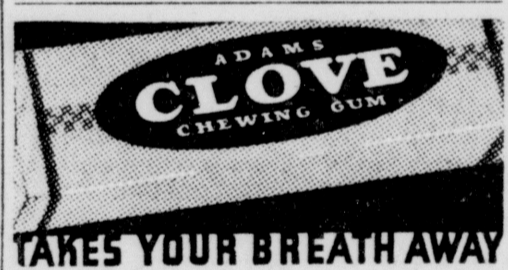

As guests of Louise Mitchell, Tuesday evening, Bridge at Eight members enjoyed an evening gathering uptown, in one of the tearooms.

Dorothy Moon and Jean Hamilton were among the guests who spent happily informal hours at bridge. Prizes fell to Jane Leicht, Mildred Layton and Jean Hamilton. Refreshments were served by candlelight, at a large table centered with bright baby umbrellas.

In two weeks, the girls will be entertained by Jane Leicht, of Clayton street.

State Leaders Are Speakers Before Federation Tuesday

Lawrence County Federation women were privileged to hear two state leaders at their meeting Tuesday, in the first U. P. church, on Clemmerville boulevard, Mrs. John M. Phillips of Pittsburgh, president of the Federation of Pennsylvania Women, and Mrs. Mulford Stough, of Carlisle, Pa. head of the Family Relations division, a part of the American Home department, being the main speakers on the morning program, opening at 10 o'clock.

Choosing for her subject, "Home-making; A Job, A Business, A Profession, and an Art," Mrs. Stough tackled every woman's problem by suggesting careful study of the problems of the home, and of plans for their solution, budgeting of time as the first and foremost requisite, this requiring ability similar to successful holders of any jobs; second she dwelt upon the business aspect as required in buying for the family, whether food, clothing or other necessities; third, home-making is a profession as she likened the home to a business, and a physician in keeping the family in good health, and to a lawyer in counseling wisely upon family problems.

The home-maker is in addition to all these attributes, a designer of art, both in making the home attractive and beautiful, as well as comfortable, and as a moulder of ideals in building children's characters.

The topic was inspirational and enlivened anew Mrs. Stough's large audience of considerably over a hundred prominent leaders in club work who appreciated this oft-forgotten side of every day life.

In educational circles, Mrs. Stough is considered pioneer in parent and child education, her field of endeavor being recognized not only in Pennsylvania, but internationally. She initiated the movement for organization of a state council of parental education, and is a member of the executive committee; she is Pennsylvania chairman for Better Homes in America, a member of the Child Study Association of America, and of the American Association for Adult Education.

She has been honored by the Biographical Quarterly, of London, requesting her biography for their publication which is an "authoritative medium for recording personal data regarding outstanding men and women in the British Empire and the United States of America."

Furthermore, Mrs. Stough originated the plan for the School of Family Relationships at Dickinson college, and brought about successful development as its director. A resume of this rapidly broadening field featured the afternoon session, when Mrs. Stough again appeared on the program.

As the next speaker at the morning session, Mrs. John M. Phillips, state president, who needs no introduction to New Castle women for they know of her splendid work as their leader and counselor, having also spoken here previously, presented Federation Problems. She explained the new set-up of state Federations and the value of the new movement. In advancing city betterment, she outlined accomplishments of the various organizations along the lines of (a) playgrounds; (b) baby clinics; (c) school nurses; (d) school cafeterias; (e) county libraries; (f) nursery schools; (g) home economic departments in schools.

As to future Federation aims, Mrs. Phillips stressed the importance of doing away with the present "spoils" system and making state offices appointive, particularly in the fields of health and education, based upon fitness and ability. Secondly, the Federation aims to have a woman on every board of every institution receiving state aid; third, a study of selective sterilization and birth control, pleading for careful thought upon any problem leading to human betterment. Fourth, she spoke of Democracy and a realization of the seriousness of the problem.

It was announced that the second week of February has been set aside for raising money for the foundation and endowment fund; that dates of the spring convention will be May 16-17, at Williamsport, Pa.

Previous to the morning addresses, the meeting was opened by the county president, Mrs. A. P. Treser, who presided. Assembly singing of "Hail Pennsylvania" was followed by the litany led by Mrs. W. H. Shipley. Mrs. Harding H. Thayer contributed an appropriate poem, "Your Flag and My Flag," and the pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. M. B. Dinsmore. Prominently displayed on the platform were two new flags which had been presented to the Daughters of 1812 a few days ago, by Mrs. A. T. Eckles, president and her two daughters, Mrs. M. B. Dinsmore and Mrs. F. A. Pinkerton, the 1812 emblem being the handiwork of Mrs. Eckles.

After another song, "America the Beautiful," there was a presentation of contributions to the Grace M. Greer Scholarship Fund by the club presidents, Mrs. S. D. Pearson, calling the roll. Mrs. Greer graciously received the gifts, expressing appreciation and turning the sum over to the Federation treasurer, Mrs. H. R. McCulloch, Mrs. S. M. Matheny presented the first reading of the by-laws.

During the luncheon hour at 12:30, guests viewed a travel loan exhibit arranged by Mrs. G. W. Short and Mrs. R. S. Tannehill, in observance of National Art Week. Luncheon was served promptly, following the invocation by Mrs. S. E. Irvine. At 2 o'clock, the women enjoyed additional relaxation in a pleasing organ recital by Albert A. Taylor. He presented in his usual mastery fashion, "Toccata in D" (Kinder); "Jagged Peaks in the Starlight" (Clokey); Scherzo (Dethier).

"The Harmonies" was the subject of a most interesting and informative talk afterwards, by J. E. Martsof, of New Brighton, who illustrated his address with many unusual pictures. He traced the history of these early settlers back to 1805 when, under Father George Rapp, they founded Harmony, near what is now Zelienople, a colony of 50 log cabins, clearing 150 acres. Penniless, but industrious, this group augmented to 140 families in 1810, had 3,000 acres under cultivation, and eager to find markets for surplus food, they sought a new location on the Wabash, calling it New Harmony. This was two years before the state of Indiana was formed, in which organization Fred Rapp a son, played a prominent part.

Moving again in 1825 and founded Economy, near Ambridge, with a still larger colony due to the infusion of new people Robert Owens brought from England, these super-industrious people progressed until, through no fault of their own, they were disbanded in 1866.

Mr. Martsof's aim in presenting his talk and pictures is an educational one, believing that history may be taught through lessons of industry and worthwhile projects of a people, rather than through tales of war as now predominate.

The next county meeting will be held on March 17, the place to be determined, with The Reading Circle and Current Events' 23 hostess clubs. Hostesses for yesterday were P. E. O. Sisterhood and The Current Events class. Ushers were: Mrs. Earl Carpenter, Mrs. Bart Richards, Miss Margaret Stewart and Mrs. David W. Ritchie, Jr.

Here from Slippery Rock Women's club was a group of representatives including Mrs. B. H. Dimit, president, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Clyde Humphrey, Mrs. H. L. Headland, Mrs. Mayne Allison, Mrs. William Renick, Mrs. William Hines, Mrs. D. C. Studebaker, Mrs. Gail West and Miss Maude Bingham.

INTERNATIONAL GROUP OPENS NEW SEASON

The International Relations Department of the Woman's club launched its season's program in the home of the chairman, Mrs. E. B. Russell of New Wilmington, at a meeting held recently, in the form of a luncheon. The occasion was most colorful with its Autumn appointments, and the menu was delicious.

Following, the group assembled about the log fireplace in the living room and entered into a forum discussion of the purpose of the study of "What Can Be Done to Promote Better Relationships Between the Nations to Preserve Peace?"

1. We must destroy war or war will destroy us.
2. Our generation must tell the truth about war: That it settles nothing and promotes greed and selfishness.
3. Wars cause waste of human life and wealth.
4. Let us give our children constructive toys and not those that teach destruction of life and property.
5. We must understand the economic implications and help solve them.
6. We must be able to recognize propaganda and sense the facts.
7. We must send to Congress, men who are peace minded.
8. Let us not lose sight of liberty of conscience and freedom of speech, as the corner stones upon which our nation was founded.
9. Encourage the promotion of good will and sympathy by exchange of teachers, students and conferences.
10. Because wars are evil, we must have a deep and abiding faith in the ultimate victory of universal peace.

THE NEW TARIFF PACT WITH CANADA

COMMENTING on the possible and probable effects of the new trade pact with Canada in the United States, the Philadelphia Inquirer gives the following analysis of the situation: The sweeping tariff reductions provided in the new trade treaty with Canada raise far-reaching questions that, for the present, remain unanswerable. Whether the new rates will be beneficial or harmful to economic progress in the United States can be determined conclusively only after the reciprocal pact has been put to the test.

It would be pleasant to be assured that this Canadian treaty, launched with such a fanfare after, doubtless, a long period of careful preparation, will accomplish all that is hoped for in reviving business throughout North America. It is possible that it will produce, in the aggregate, improved conditions in this country. Disheartening would it be if the constructive potentialities of the new tariff schedule were outweighed by its adverse factors.

There may be significance in the fact that the first loud protest against the trade pact has come from the lumber industry. On all forest products the United States has granted Canada a 50 per cent reduction in tariff rates, the largest cut possible. That this concession may work a degree of harm to our lumber industry is conceivable.

It is not yet apparent what effect the lower rates on many food-stuffs will have on our own agriculture, but the comments of representatives of the American Grange and dairy interests provoke doubts about the equity of the treaty's farm schedules. Although consumers would be glad to find the new pact reducing the price of food, nothing would be gained if, in so doing, it operated to the disadvantage of American agriculture.

It was to be expected that distillers in the United States would object strenuously to the slash in the rate on Canadian whiskies. That this may mean retail price cuts does not necessarily connote reduced profits to the distillers over an extended period. As for many of the commodities upon which tariffs have been lowered, the limitation of imports to specific quotas provides a stop-loss brake which may be of some assistance in preventing adverse effects upon our home products.

However United States farmers and manufacturers may fare under this new trade agreement, there is no question that Canada has been brought close, on amazingly favorable terms for itself, to our own vast market. If, in benefitting Canada, we increase our trade to any considerable extent, thus speeding production and multiplying the number of available jobs without damage to our own industries, the treaty will have served a valuable purpose.

The test of the Canadian pact will be its ability to lower food prices to American consumers without harming American farmers, and its ability to quicken business without according inequitable treatment to specific industries.

Concerning the somewhat broader question of this whole method of making trade treaties, although the issue is not now before the country, the Constitution has this to say: "He (the President) shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to make treaties, provided two thirds of the Senators present concur." But a few months ago Congress empowered the President to conclude such pacts as that with Canada without asking the Senate's by-your-leave. It is possible that a question of constitutionality on this mode of treaty-making will be insistently brought forward at some future time.

Reciprocal tariffs have not, in the past, been free from political reactions and it is by no means unthinkable that the new pact with Canada will echo and re-echo through the Presidential year now dawning. Nor has it ever been noted that low tariffs meant prosperity for this country. For the moment it can only be said that two great neighboring nations have made co-operative efforts to improve their business. It is not possible at this time to appraise the potential net gains and losses to the people of the United States.

VICTORY FOR RED TAPE

Jay N. Darling, famous cartoonist, did not seek the post of chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey at Washington; he was drafted into it. But he undertook the job with enthusiasm because he believed the Roosevelt administration was seriously interested in the rehabilitation of wild life and would support him in his efforts to do something with the program laid out by the president's committee on Wild Life Restoration, of which he was a member.

It didn't take Darling long to realize he was doomed to disappointment. However, he kept plugging away without open signs of discouragement until last April, when, in an arrangement of the administration, he declared he had not been able to stir up more than lip service from cabinet officers, members of congress and other government officials and was ready to quit unless things were corrected soon.

Now, less than two years after he took office, "Ding" is out. He resigned with the old excuse, "pressure of private affairs." But those who know him are certain private business couldn't have dragged him away if he had seen a chance that his expectations would be realized. To them it's another victory for red tape.

THOSE THAT make betting a business are often sound in their political judgments. They are at least cold, calculating, sentiment does not cloud their vision.

On the Republican presidential nomination, the betting now stands: Senator William E. Borah, 8 to 1. Gov. Landon, of Kansas, 10 to 1. Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, 15 to 1. Col. Frank Knox, of Illinois, 15 to 1. Gov. Hoffman, of New Jersey, Ogden L. Mills, Senator Davis A. Reed, all 20 to 1.

Professional bettors agree that Gov. Landon is gaining and will probably lead the procession at 6 to 1 in a few days. Band wagon climbers are more and more polite to Gov. Landon.

H. G. WELLS, aged 69, younger and more brilliant than when he wrote "Dr. Moreau's Island," and "The War of the Worlds," now in America on his way to see Hollywood says:

"The film is a finer art than the novel, stage, or the opera." Mr. Wells' open mind proves his youth. The moving picture is greater in its possibilities than book, stage, or opera, because it contains all three, plus the marvelous power of photography.

WHEN RUSKIN, seeing the first old-fashioned photographs congratulated the world on a discovery that would make the entire world visible to all its inhabitants, he little dreamed what photography would really do.

Mr. Wells, a genius, a Democrat and unspooled by success, is welcome in America. May he live sixty-five years more, and write eighty-five more books, all suitable for "the movies."

MAYOR LAGUARDIA, leaving his bed in a New York hospital to talk to mayors of many cities, in Washington, referred to representatives of the New Deal as "semicolons boys," and remarked: "You can't feed people epigrams and slogans."

The mayor says the "semicolons boys" are holding up jobs for the idle while ignorant men are appointed to pass on proposals and advise of experts. The Mayor, who doesn't choose always to be tactful, calls the "semicolons boys" a "boil on the neck of the administration."

BUSINESS starts discussing the Canadian-U. S. trade agreement. Congressman Church, of Illinois, and Brewster of Maine, dislike it, and so do American lumber men, saying through the National Lumber Manufacturers Association that a fifty per cent tariff reduction on Canadian lumber will "paralyze the general economy of important parts of this country."

Republican Congressmen think the Canadian pact will supply good material for Republicans in 1936. On the other hand, fruit growers of Maine and shipping men of Maine call the agreement a first-class one.

TWO unimportant pieces of news intrude, at this point.

On the rocks of the foot of Niagara, on the American side, a girl baby, four months old is found in a paper box dead.

In a second floor apartment at South Hempstead Village, Long Island, a mother 32 years old, is found on the floor with her 18 month old son in her arms, both dead, a refrigerator pushed against the door.

The stories back of those dead bodies may seem to the Angel Gabriel more important than the treaty with Canada. To us they are only "minor news items."

THE "SANCTIONS" wall thrown by England and France around Italy smaller nations co-operating to "suffocate and starve Italy" as Mussolini puts it, is now complete. Two million young organizers, Italians protest against the effort to punish Italy for doing to Ethiopia what England and France have done to other more nearly civilized countries.

MUSSOLINI says that "England's attitude and sanctions" never will make Italians submit. He mentions "England" not France, knowing that France opposes him against the will of the French government and people and only because the French believe they cannot, by offending England, risk the loss of British support in "the next war with Germany."

France did not have that support in 1870; might not have it again in 1937 or 1938. One war on the continent might be enough to satisfy England for some generations.

THE NEW airport at Newark, N. J., is to have a runway 200 feet wide, 700 feet long, "carpeted" with more than 15,000 square yards of cotton mesh fabric, to be used, steel and concrete fashion, as reinforcement between a firm base and an asphalt top-surfacing.

The cotton will lend additional resiliency to the asphalt top surface, that will protect it from moisture and decay. This is news important to American cotton growers.

Will you please advise me as to the correct use of a service plate M.P.

Answer—It is the plate put at each cover when the table is set and upon or beside which the napkin is placed. It may match the design of the dinner set or it may be of an entirely different pattern. At formal dinners a place or service plate is used during the entire meal up to the dessert course. And at no time should a place remain plateless.

At the end of each course the used plate is removed and a service plate put down to remain until the next course comes along.

A plate containing food should not be exchanged for a used plate. A clean one should be served between them.

British Plans Alarm.
Large Navy Is Seen.
The German Steel Deal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—How far will Great Britain go now on armaments? That is the question now since the Conservatives believe they have an election mandate.

To those who have been following the situation, the question creates great anxiety. The Tories are riding high. They will build the largest navy the world ever has seen. That is the view.

The cost—according to one English source—will be "scores of millions."

And the United States undoubtedly will keep up.

In the meantime, American liberals, alarmed, say that while vehement protests are heard over the millions spent for relief, no protests are heard for the millions that the United States is spending and will spend for armaments.

Of course, the plea is that what one country does, another must do. The Tories won on that argument—"national defense"—in England.

HOW FAR?
The Roosevelt administration has some idea as to what the British intend to do.

A British source has it that the admiralty is believed to plan, for one thing, to build 12 capital ships at $40,000,000 apiece. (These are to replace outdated vessels.) That totals $480,000,000. That, however, merely is the beginning.

There are to be many cruisers, destroyers, submarines, airplanes.

No other country, except the United States, could find the money to build such a large fleet. The United States is expected to keep up, proportionately.

NO PLAN
The British Tories won the election with no plan. The irony of it was that both the Laborites and the Liberals had broad, concise programs.

The Tories went into the election with a long, rambling emotional appeal for national defense—and that turned the trick.

But, now in the sober morning after, British citizens are asking what the Conservatives really plan to do. For one thing, they made no promises for any definite social reforms. Social questions were swallowed up in the war emotionalism.

But how far will the British cabinet go toward arming?

Will Britain try to outdo all the remaining countries of Europe in armaments?

And how high will that boost English taxes? There is no comeback now for the people—for as long as this parliament lasts—at least four or five years.

GERMANY
Many interesting developments have stemmed from the purchase of $19,000 worth of German steel by a subcontractor on New York's Triborough bridge, being built with PWA money.

The Wall Street Journal points out that Germany has been driven, by lack of means to finance indispensable imports, to give a bounty to manufacturers for selling their goods abroad below cost. In brief, Germany, in chief of U. S. fleet, products, sells certain manufactured articles abroad below cost in order to raise the cash to purchase necessities.

It can afford to subsidize the products that other nations will buy.

That is somewhat like bootlegging. Economists say that world trade restrictions will continue to force a repetition of such incidents. Unless nations can exchange goods with one another legally, they will try to do so illegally—to remain alive.

Then, the economists go on, taking an unpopular view, that if other nations were permitted to sell goods here normally, without bootlegging at cut prices, they would in turn buy goods here, thus American manufacturers and workmen would be actual beneficiaries.

Incidentally, there may be a congressional investigation of steel price bids by American steel companies on government projects. There have been some official allegations of price collusion.

In the meantime, however, the Roosevelt administration is pushing a federal trade investigation into foreign "dumping." The president, himself, is strongly opposed to purchases of foreign goods at below cost-of-production levels.

IN DEFENSE OF THE BOW TIE

"The Gold Fish" Is Successfully Staged By Guild Players

Up to eight fifteen Tuesday night we had never known just what to do about gold fish. Edibly they don't rate with kippered herring, sonically they clutter up a living room, and intellectually their quotient is nil minus. It seems they are a symbol.

In that respect they are much like a Bronx cheer which is also a symbol. Gold fish are now symbols of the end of everything matrimonial. They are under the trenchant pen of Gladys Unger a gold fish is something you hand your wife, (or husband) when you decide your martial gears don't mesh properly. At least that's the story of "The Gold Fish" the presentation of the New Castle Civic Theatre Guild in the Senior High School auditorium Tuesday night, under the sponsorship of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's clubs.

Clever Little Thing
The play itself is a clever little thing although never presented professionally but once and that by Pauline Frederick. In it are some rather lusty lines, some situations that are genuinely humorous and the good old rock ribbed moral that love conquers all. In short it is the story of Jennie, a bargain basement blonde who has ambitions to some day marry a bank roll, be a lady, and be able to order chicken salad without being considered wrong.

She starts out with a song plugger and they decide that when either of them tire of the other he or she will bring home a gold fish as the symbol of their dissolution. From the song plugger she goes to a study aircraft executive with an apartment on Riverside Drive, and from him she springsboards to a multimillionaire with plenty of what it takes, who dies in a year and leaves her everything. She is about to take on an English duke when she suddenly discovers that she and the song plugger were too quick with the gold fish and the curtain closes with Jenny and her first love in a clinch.

In many places the play was something to cheer about but there were also some spots when the tempo of the actors probably lagged behind that intended by the author.

As Jenny, Jerry Haines carried her part with a change of pace that marks only one who has the feel of the stage. In the first act she is a typical lower East Side doll, loud and tempestuous. In the second act she is a synthetic lady, determined to make everybody happy and convulsing the audience with her mannerisms. In the third act the fire of West 24th with a bank roll, and the realization that she can't have happiness if she chooses other things. Mrs. Haines had everything it took and have a really fine performance.

Some Good Portrayals
Buddie Barrett had the part of Amelia Fugley, a sister under the skin but who never got changed her outer epidermis. A gum chewing, slang using, arm waving lass who belonged down on the other side of the tracks. Very well done. Rosalyn Freeman had the blackface part of Magnolia and what she had to do was done well. The same goes for Mollie Livingston in the role of Ellen a maid.

Jimmy Smith had the part of Count Stanislaus Nevski, a foreign nobleman who was giving his all to impart culture to such people as Jenny. It was a tough part and took some doing. The part of Casimir, an attendant was taken up by Howard Warnock.

The part of Jim Wetherby was taken by Walter Preston, portraying the roll of a young man losing his first wife. His diction was remarkably clear. Herman Kraus, the second husband was taken by J. C. Ward and he gave a clever impression of a stodgy business man who thought romance was something that came in bottles. Tom Cunningham had the part of Hamilton J. Power, third husband. He appeared only in the second act but handled what he had to do in a presentable fashion. The part of the Duke of Middlesex was right down the alley of Dudley Arnold and his impersonation of a monied duke was just what you would expect it to be. The same for Harry Cullford as the English butler.

An Enjoyable Evening
The presentation was another advancement for the Civic Theatre players who are honestly endeavoring to give New Castle a theatre guild that will provide entertainment. Each production is a little

Court Ruling On Hauptmann Looked For By December 9

Supreme Court Will Make Famous Decision In Hauptmann Case

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The supreme court on December 9 probably will rule on the fate of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, facing electrocution in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping-murder case.

Attorney-General David Wilentz of New Jersey, today informed the court that he had accepted service on November 15 in Hauptmann's petition for review of his conviction. A brief of Wilentz, in answer to Hauptmann's petition, is to be filed this week.

The high court will have a decision day Monday, after which it will take a two-weeks recess, reconvening December 9, while it is possible the court may take longer to dispose of the petition, an announcement of its actions on that date is likely.

No Leniency For Kidnapers

Pardon Board Not Inclined To Intervene For Doomed Philadelphians

TWO HAVE ALREADY BEEN EXECUTED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Asserting its fixed policy of "showing no leniency to kidnapers," the state board of pardons indicated during hearings today it will not intervene to spare the lives of Martin Farrell and Francis Wiley, sentenced to die for the slaying of William "Big Bill" Weiss, Philadelphia underworld character.

Webster S. Achey, Doylestown, counsel for the condemned men, pleaded for a commutation to life imprisonment on the grounds it would be "too dear a price to pay" for the Weiss murder should the state execute "two more men". Robert Mals and George Legenza, leaders of the Philadelphia mob responsible for the Weiss kidnapping and slaying early this year, already have been executed.

"So far nobody has paid for this crime," Secretary of Internal Affairs Thomas A. Logue, a board member, declared. He pointed out that Mals and Legenza were executed for the killing of a Virginia policeman. Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti added: "It has been the policy of this board to show no leniency to kidnapers and there is murder in this case as well."

Twenty Cardinals Will Be Created

Record Number Of Cardinals For Past 100 Years To Be Created

(International News Service)
VATICAN CITY Nov. 20.—Twenty Cardinals' a record number for the last hundred years, are expected to be created at a consistory to be called by Pope Pius XI Dec. 16, but no Americans are due to receive the red hat.

A public session of the consistory will be held on Dec. 19. Vatican authorities indicated today.

Normally the college of Cardinals has a maximum membership of 70, but as deaths reduced the number of princes of the church and they were not replaced, the college now stands at 49.

Mr. Coppello, Archbishop of Buenos Aires, is the only prelate of the new world at present on the list of projected Cardinals, it was understood.

Two More Sessions Of Bible Training School Are Planned

New And Old Testaments Are Studied Last Night In First M. E.

The third session of the Leadership Training school was held at the First M. E. church Tuesday evening with Dr. G. S. Bennett in charge of the Old Testament course. Mrs. H. F. Magill conducting the devotionals and Dr. C. H. Heaton in charge of the New Testament course. There will be two more sessions, Thursday of this week and Tuesday of next week.

The Old Testament course continued the Period of the Judges and dealt with Samuel, and the social development and literature of the period. The Unified Kingdom was then taken up and Saul, his call, victories and downfall were traced. The New Testament course dealt with the Didactic or Teaching books of the Bible and the first classification was the Pauline Epistles. These Epistles were treated first as to their classification, second, as to the occasion of the Epistles, third, as to the specific objects of the respective Epistles and fourth, the plan of salvation in the Epistles. The topics for discussion were the two imprisonments of Paul, the date and authorship of the Hebrew Epistles and the eschatology of Paul.

Conference At Epworth Church Ends Last Night

Missionary Society Workers Of Vicinity Confer On Tuesday

A Queen Esther banquet and program on Tuesday evening brought a Workers' Conference of the Woman's Home Missionary Society Grove City district, to a close in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church.

The table was set for 75 guests from New Castle, Sharon, New Wilmington, Edenburg and other parts of this zone of the district.

Yellow and white colors were used in the decorations and the favors were suggestive of the Queen Esther theme for the year, "Looking Through Mirrors".

Miss Helen Johnson, young people's promotional secretary, who is making a tour of churches in this vicinity, was the guest speaker of the occasion. Miss Mildred Lusk, president of the Nancy Reynolds Queen Esther society of the Epworth church, presided. Patricia Loy returned greetings from the younger group of girls, the Thelma Clark Queen Esther society of the same church.

A reading by Martha Mauck and a piano solo by Mary Ellen Shenafelt was the Mahoning M. E. church's contribution to the interesting program. The Thelma Clark Queen Esthers gave two playslets, "The White Witch," and "The Golden Key."

This event was given in celebration of the opening of the "Girls' Golden Year" in the Methodist Episcopal denomination.

Earlier in the day women of the sub-district had gathered for classes of instruction and presentation of plans for the year. The conference was most successful and very helpful, and was attended by about 100 persons.

WPA Situation Badly Muddled At Pittsburgh

Court Action Threatened To Force McNair Into Line

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Court action in effort to compel Mayor William N. McNair to cooperate with WPA authorities in a city program was threatened today after a "showdown" meeting of city council left the WPA-relief situation as badly muddled as ever.

Mayor McNair dismissed the threats of Gov. George H. Earle, State WPA Director Edward N. Jones, County Director John F. Leabon and members of city council with a wave of the hand, charging WPA projects were poorly planned and executed and fraught with politics.

Threat Ignored

The threat of Governor Earle to shut off the city's relief funds after December 1 unless a WPA program is started had little effect on the mayor and his works director, Leslie M. Johnston. Mayor McNair urged other communities to follow his example and revolt against WPA.

But City Councilman John Kane, a Democrat, threatened mandamus proceedings to force the mayor to cooperate with WPA authorities.

"The whole thing is stymied again," Kane said. "We've got to do something definite and right away. It seems to me that court action to force the mayor into line is the only course that will bring results."

State Spends More On School Pupils Than Other States

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—Pennsylvania spends considerably more than most states on the average pupil in public schools, according to a survey just completed by the Federal Office of Education.

The study covers expenditures for the 1933-34 school year on maintenance of public school systems. In Pennsylvania, such expenditures totaled $133,057,357, or an average of $75.04 per pupil in daily attendance. In the country as a whole, on the other hand, per pupil costs averaged only $67.

Total expenditures were greater in Pennsylvania than all states save New York, where they aggregated $250,022,838. The per pupil expenditures, however, were higher in 14 states than in Pennsylvania. Such outlays averaged $72.51 per pupil in Ohio and $48.54 in West Virginia.

Educational Program On State Basis

In a letter to Dr. C. C. Green, chairman of the Lawrence county council of the Emergency Education Relief, Superintendent of Public Instruction Lester K. Ade informs him of another change in the proposed education and recreation programs. Under the adjusted plan the program will revert to a state basis instead of a national one.

When the projects were first considered they were to be state projects. Then in October the order was handed down that the educational and recreational projects were to be federal projects. This has now been changed and a state basis will be maintained. The projects must be resubmitted and prompt attention to them is hoped for.

REPUDIATES HIS STATEMENT HE IS KIDNAPER

Says He Made Statements Because Of Quarrel With His Wife

(International News Service)

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Declaring he made the statement because of a quarrel with his wife, John Lapca today repudiated a confession that he kidnapped the Lindbergh baby, after paying $10 to Bruno Hauptmann to construct the ladder he said he used to climb to the nursery.

Lapca denied his earlier statement as authorities prepared to give him a sanity test.

His wife, Betty Terjance, confirmed Lapca's statement concerning a quarrel between them. She scoffed at his admission of the Lindbergh kidnapping.

"He doesn't know any more about it than I do, and that's nothing," she declared.

Lapca was taken into custody after police were told he had told a fantastic story of kidnapping the baby, having it wrested from him by two unknown men, and fleeing to foreign lands.

Food Orders Cease For WPA Employees

Delay In Issuing Pay Checks Causes Serious Situation For District

No more emergency food orders will be available for workers on the WPA who have been withdrawn from the relief rolls, Director J. Vale Downie of district 14 stated today. The order has been received from Harrisburg and is effective immediately.

Due to a jam in payrolls getting through Harrisburg, many WPA workers have not received their pay checks on time in past weeks and it has been necessary to reinstate them temporarily on the relief rolls in order to give them food orders. This has bridged over the gap between the time they were supposed to get their pay checks and the time they were supposed to get the relief rolls.

Under the new order this cannot be done, and if pay checks are late,

Mine Operators To Offer Appeal

Take Case Of "Coal Bootlegging" To Attorney General Margiotti

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Representatives of the anthracite institute and eastern Pennsylvania mine operators who appealed to Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti for state intervention to halt "bootlegging" of coal, today were preparing a written statement of their request for submission to the attorney general next week.

The operators' delegation, including the president, executive director and general counsel of the powerful anthracite organization conferred with Margiotti here late yesterday. It was agreed that the statement of their case against "coal stealing" by jobless miners should be placed before Margiotti in written rather than verbal form.

Although Gov. George H. Earle has indicated through administration spokesmen it is the duty of local authorities to deal with the "bootleg" situation, the institute last week served notice it was prepared to wipe out the practice by a forceful program. The Margiotti conference was the first step taken in this direction.

role in the baldheaded New York producer's road show, was out so far as Carroll was concerned.

He flew from New York to Charlotte to tell her so.

"Miss D'Orsay isn't doing the show any good, besides her salary is too high," Carroll told reporters. He had given her two weeks notice, he said.

All day yesterday Miss D'Orsay remained fired. That is according to James Carroll, Earl's brother, who constituted himself the producer's spokesman. Earl was giving the newsmen the cold shoulder. Fifi, too, was mum. Neither would answer phone calls. Pounding fists on their hotel rooms met with no response.

James Carroll said yes, Miss D'Orsay was leaving the show. It was regrettable but she and Carroll had mutually agreed that she was too fine an actress to stay in the road show. The show didn't give her a chance to show her proper ability, he said. When would she leave?

Brother James: "Oh, she'll be with the show for several more... er, I mean two more weeks."

Mexico Too Exciting For Villa's Daughter

CELIA VILLA, DAUGHTER OF THE LATE PANCHE VILLA

(By Central Press.)

MEXICO, D. F., Nov. 20.—Francisco Villa has been dead for 12 years now but to millions in this land of the Aztecs, he still rides the lonely mountain trails at night. And out of the canyon lands, the imaginative hear the rollicking strains of "La Cucaracha" as his "army" cuts a swath through the country.

That is what Pancho's daughter recently learned when she came from her New York home to visit the haunts where her father, the spit of bullets and the lash of machetes, won the land.

Her First Return

Miss Celia Villa, a dark Latin beauty who speaks English better than Spanish, expected a peaceful vacation. It was her first visit to her homeland. When only a child her mother had fled with her from the carnage of war to New Mexico. Instead of quiet, however, she was mobbed by thousands when she landed at Balbuena airport. Her clothes were almost torn from her as police reserves fought with the crowds. "Thongs lined the highways, shouting 'Viva Pancho!'"

She had no sooner taken refuge in a hotel than bellboys began delivering threatening letters—notes from her father's enemies who warned that she, too, would be assassinated if she dared to take part in politics.

Pleaded For Another Joan.

There were also other communications, surreptitiously delivered. They were from rebel chieftains who promised to make her another Joan of Arc if she would lend the magic name of Villa to their cause.

She learned, too, that she was being shadowed by the intelligence service of the Mexican army, and that a young officer, Captain Jorge Solis, had been assigned to watch her.

Whenever she appeared on the streets, crowds would gather. To thousands, she was a heroine but to others she was merely another Villa, someone placed a dagger into her lap with a note, "Death to every Villa."

That was the end. The following day she departed for New York. "I went to Mexico simply as a traveler," she related. "I didn't know that my father still lived so intensely in the memories of his people—that to many he is yet a god and to a few, a devil."

"I never dreamed of becoming a girl Pancho but some thought that was my purpose. They believed I had come to unite the old Villistas and lead them as my father had done. It was ridiculous."

Hero of Motion Pictures.

"The thrilling exploits of my father have been re-enacted in three Mexican motion pictures already this year. Almost every week in Mexico City, some magazine carries an article about him, and schools throughout the country are being named for him. Every tent company has a play about him in its repertoire."

"There have been other famous chieftains, such as Zapata, but their deeds have dimmed—perhaps because they never dared to slay the Colossus of the North and have a General Pershing come riding after them."

Police Guarding Hollywood Home

Fear Five-Year-Old Girl Was Object Of Kidnap Plot

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 20.—A police guard was thrown around the palatial home of Victor Jory, 34-year-old motion picture actor today after the star reported to police he believed his 5-year-old daughter was the object of a kidnaping plot.

Jory told police a friend, Thomas Watson, a boxer whom the actor formerly managed, was twice beaten unmercifully by two men who sought to learn the whereabouts of the Jory child.

The first attempt to learn the address of the player's child, took place several days ago when Watson was accosted on a Hollywood street.

Refusing to give the two men any information, Watson, according to Jory, was forced to get in a machine, driven to an isolated section of the city and then beaten until he gave them an erroneous address to end the torture.

"We are going to kidnap the girl," the men said as they left Watson, according to Jory.

Late last night Watson was again accosted and brutally beaten by the same men who sought to learn the address of the child.

The speakers to be heard were announced and met with the instant approval of those present.

EASY TO DRIVE BECAUSE EVERY FORD FEATURE MATCHES THE QUALITY OF THE V-8 ENGINE

Driving Ease

THIS is how the V-8 engine makes the new Ford easier to drive. It responds to the throttle like a thoroughbred to the spur. Its smooth flow of power through a wide speed range cuts down gear-shifting.

When gear-shifting is necessary, it is more convenient now. The lever travels a shorter distance. Steering is easier too. A 17-to-1 gear ratio and longer steering arm exert greater leverage on the wheels.

The Ford clutch takes less effort. It uses centrifugal force rather than a stiff spring to maintain contact with the flywheel. Ford Super-Safety Brakes provide extra stopping power with little pedal pressure.

The Ford Motor Company introduced V-8 performance to the low-price field. But it was not satisfied to stop there. It insisted that every feature of the Ford car must be in keeping with V-8 engine quality—driving ease included.

'Go To Bed' Is Best Remedy In Fighting Cold

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—"If you do a code in your doze, go to bed."

That's the magic prescription handed out to sufferers of the Allegheny County Medical Society whose members agree that Samuel Pepys' remedy of "and so to bed" is the best one after all.

A simple diet, mild analgesic drugs and cathartics, and "an ounce or two of spirits in a hot drink is not contra-indicated." Which means you've got to live right, and you'll escape the wintry blasts full and by.

Scientists have found that none of the horde of bacteria which appear in the throats and nasal passages cause colds but rather are the latter-day invaders of the cold stricken tissues.

Hint Started Will On Career

Suggestion Of Aged Cousin Of Humorist Put Rogers On Road To Fame

MEMORIAL FUND IS CONTINUING

The suggestion that started Will Rogers on his road to fame may be credited to 70-year-old Clarence Eugene Rogers Bigelow, of Grand Rapids, Mich., a cousin of the humorist-philosopher.

"Back in the late nineties," recalls Mr. Bigelow, who knew Will as a youngster on Oklahoma and Nebraska Indian reservations, "Will came to Grand Rapids on one of his early vaudeville tours. After the show, I went to see him.

"How ya getting' along, Will?" I asked him.

"Pretty good," said Will. "They seem to like my roping."

"Sure they do," I said. "But why don't you give 'em a little talk with it? You always could make us laugh down on the reservation."

The next time Will came to Grand Rapids, he had a monologue, Mr. Bigelow continued.

"And he rolled 'em into the aisles," he added. "I knew then Will was on his way. It wasn't long after that he was a big name on Broadway."

Those who have not yet given to the fund for the Roger Memorials may do so by clipping the coupon below and mailing or bringing to the office of The News Company, where it will be gladly acknowledged by Chairman Fred L. Lentz.

NEW TAXES MAY CONFRONT SPECIAL SESSION

State Situation Closely Watched

Several Factors Are Studied To Determine Possible Need Of New Taxes

HOPE TO PREVENT ANY NEW LEVIES

Governor Earle Opposes Suggestion Of Sales Taxes As Solution

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Whether or not potential tax increases will have to be considered at the forthcoming special session of the general assembly depends upon three variable factors, administrative sources indicated today.

These factors, upon which depends the degree of employment stability to be achieved during the next few months, are, first, the successful completion of the work progress administration program; second, the extent of recovery accomplished in private industry, and third, the question as to how much cooperation is afforded the state government by local communities.

Watching Closely

All three will be watched closely in the coming months. If they work out as administration leaders hope, it is expected no tax increases will be necessary. If they do not work out, some scheme for increasing the state's revenues will have to be taken up at the special session.

While it is known that the administration is anxious to avoid any advances in levies, some circles have pointed out the ending of direct federal relief to the state will force Pennsylvania to boost its taxes to provide necessary revenue for carrying the unemployment burden. A state sales tax was suggested in certain quarters as the only solution of the problem.

Governor Against Sales Tax
This form of levy, however, has been opposed from the first by Gov. George H. Earle. His present position in the matter has not changed, and it was expressed by one official in a blunt statement: "The governor will not stand for a sales tax."

By January 1 the administration hopes to have sufficient information as to how the so-called "variables" in its program are working out on which to base its plans on the tax matter during the session. Marked gains in the state's heavy industries at the present time and the anticipated success of a heavy WPA drive during December are cited as the basis for a belief that no tax increases will be necessary. However, should the three factors fail to accomplish their purpose in the matter of relieving the relief load, then, it was pointed out, some increases in taxes will undoubtedly be necessary. Governor Earle, in such a situation, it was believed, might fall back on some features of his tax program as presented—but defeated or amended—during the last regular session of the legislature.

'Book Week' Now Being Celebrated

Christmas Book Givers, Library Says, Will Find Gift List Ready

"National Book Week" is being observed throughout America this week and New Castle's Free Public Library is cooperating to stress it, Miss Alice M. Sterling, librarian, announced today.

The public is viewing an appropriate book exhibit all week in one of the windows of the Pennsylvania Power company.

With the approach of Christmas, Miss Sterling reminded the public that a list of gift book suggestions for the holidays may be found at the library. Many find the right book for their friends on this list each Christmas.

Now that they have taken the "obey" out of so many marriage ceremonies they might put in into a few laws.

Unions Fight For Supremacy

Two Types Of Labor Unions Are Seeking Leadership In Country

DISPUTE OVER JURISDICTION

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, who is fighting for industrial unionism's rights in the ranks of federated labor organizations, tells this story in explanation of unionism's objection to the industrial type of workingmen's associations:

The owners of certain large mining properties had an important job of electrical installation to be done. Now, the U. M. W. is an industrial, or, as some say, a vertical union. That is it includes in its membership all classes of mine workers—actual diggers, engineers and other groups of specialists, among them electricians.

There also, however, is a union (a craft union) of electricians exclusively.

As these craft unionists saw it, their members were entitled to that job of electrical installation. As President Lewis of the U. M. W. saw it, the electricians among the members of his industrial union were entitled to it—and they got it, but to the bitter resentment of the craft unionists.

A "JURISDICTIONAL" DISPUTE
It was what labor unionists call a "jurisdictional" dispute.

And although industrial unionism won, the American Federation of Labor, consisting mostly of craft organizations, does not desire to be encroached on again, speaking for an overwhelming majority of its membership.

Consequently it refrains from granting charters to new industrial unions.

The U. M. W., indeed, is affiliated with the A. F. of L., but as U. M. W. President Lewis puts it, the U. M. W. forced its way in by "sheer bulk". Besides, it was accepted before industrial unionism had come to be recognized by craft (or horizontal) unionism as such a menace.

WOULD SWALLOW OTHER

President Lewis doesn't deny that industrial unionism, if and as it expands, will swallow craft unionism.

If, for example, each industry which employs a percentage of electricians is unionized as an industry, inclusive of its electricians, the "raison d'être" for a separate craft union of electricians no longer will exist.

Craft unions of carpenters and masons and mechanics—most sorts of craft unions—similarly will evaporate into various industrial unions.

President Lewis speaks tolerantly of resistance by leaders of craft unions to this process of absorption. "It's their response," he says, "to the law of self-preservation, than which there is no higher law." But he adds that the tendency toward verticalization of horizontal unionism is dictated by modern conditions, which, he believes, are irresistible.

NOT PREMEDITATED

The industrial unions do not specifically want to crowd craft unionism out of the labor movement.

In so far as the craft unions are able to hold their own, the industrial element is willing to permit them to do so, but they demand recognition of their own rights and necessities.

And if the horizontalists lose ground, because they are too old-fashioned, the perpendicularists purpose to regain it, and more, too—for labor.

FROM MEDIEVAL DAYS

"Labor unionism," says President Lewis, "is our heritage from the medieval guilds of craftsmen, who were easy to divide into groups of specializing hand-workers."

"Naturally these groups continued to be divided during early days of the modern labor movement, and every tribute should be paid to their accomplishments in behalf of today's workers."

"The situation, however, has changed."

"We have mass production—in the automotive, the rubber, the steel, the aluminum, the radio and the mining industries, for example."

"If craft unions are to deal with them, much more than a majority of their workers will fall into no particular classification; the mass will remain unorganized—except as company-dominated unionists."

"Industrial unionism wants ALL workers organized—independently, as workers."

"It's the best insurance alike against Communism and Fascism."

Burglar Alarms On Hall Windows At Girls' Dorm

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 20.—Dormitory hall windows in colleges over the country may be convenient openings for co-eds out too late on dates to get safely in past the dean of women, but not so at Westminister college, which has installed burglar-alarms on all hall-way windows in Hillside, upper-class girls' dormitory.

When the windows are raised the alarm sounds throughout the entire building, awakening the proctor of the hall. Many false alarms have been sounded when some new cleaning woman would open a window to shake out a dust mop; but co-eds learn without experience that fireescape and hallway windows are not the way to escape the penalties of arriving at the dormitory after hours for late permission.

Westminster has long had a rule in the Dean of Women's handbook for girls which reads that "Fire escapes are for one purpose only, to be used in case of fire."

An Important Statement by Walter P. Chrysler

In which he Explains the Plan and Purpose Behind the New Lower-Priced De Soto for 1936 . . Companion Car to the New De Soto Airflow III

THE NEW CUSTOM AIRSTREAM DE SOTO TOURING SEDAN, WITH BUILT-IN TRUNK. SEVEN OTHER BODY MODELS.

TODAY WE ARE INTRODUCING the new De Soto for 1936. I believe you will be interested in the engineering thinking that went into this car—the planning behind it and how we visualized its market.

As you know, times are getting better. Today people are again thinking of automobiles in terms of style and beauty and excellence of appointments—not only transportation.

As buying power improves and people get more money . . . it is logical that they will want more style, additional room and greater beauty than the very lowest-priced cars have offered.

What we could plainly see for De Soto this year was a market of thousands of buyers who were eager to own a STYLE CAR . . . and could afford it, due to this upturn in business.

So we created for them a brand new De Soto—that is actually a custom-built car—to sell for only a few dollars more than the very lowest-priced automobiles made today.

In the last five years, we have learned how to build cars better . . . and we found ways to bring the luxury and appointments of two and three-thousand-dollar automobiles into this medium-price bracket.

I can say to you sincerely that this new De Soto has as many CUSTOM FEATURES as any car built in the finest custom-body shop.

THE NEW DE SOTO INTERIORS are most beautiful. The outside styling, you can see for yourself, is distinctive and pleasing. People who have seen this new De Soto have gone out of their way to tell me that they believe it will be the best-looking, most distinctive car of 1936.

In addition, it is a marvelous performing automobile. I can tell you, from hundreds of miles of personal experience, that it is a real pleasure to drive. It steers and handles easily, stops quickly, and the engine is one of the most powerful in its price class.

Furthermore, tests have shown that the new

Gas-Saver Transmission is capable of giving the remarkable economy of 25 miles per gallon.

I want you to see this new car. It will be displayed this week at Automobile Shows all over America, and it is also being demonstrated by De Soto dealers throughout the country.

After you have seen it, write me your frank opinion of the car. The Chrysler Corporation is very proud to present this new De Soto, and I feel sure you will agree with me that it is destined to be an outstanding success.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Henry and children of Ford City and Miss Esther Drake of Kittanning were week-end guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Drake.

Recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and daughter Vivian and Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher of New Castle, Earl Smith and daughter Dolores, Mrs. Mirelda Rodawalt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Drake and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith and daughter Givenwith of Franklin.

The ladies of the 1915 club entertained their husbands at a chicken dinner at the home of Mrs. Louise Anderson on Thursday, November 14. Special guests of the club were Mr. and Mrs. William McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Auld and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Anderson and children. The event marked the 47th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

The silver social given at Millburn grange hall on Thursday evening was a success in every way. Over 100 were in attendance coming by invitation of the grange members who were hosts at the various tables to their guests serving light refreshments. During the evening they were entertained with cards and a program which consisted of several selections by the Steve Strong quartet of Volant, selections by the Jenkins children, two monologues by Charles Masters and Stephen Lukacs and group singing.

Republican Women Meet

Pennsylvania Council Is In Annual Session At Harrisburg

STATE CHAIRMAN
TAYLOR SPEAKER

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Prepared for two days of discussion and the future political situation, more than 500 delegates from all sections of the state convened here today for the 13th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women.

Although several addresses and reports were heard late yesterday, the convention was not officially opened until today with registration of members and the formal welcoming address by Mayor George H. Rorer.

Highlights of the morning's program was to be Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor's address on "The Republican Party and Pennsylvania." The G. O. P. leader was to appear following the opening address of Mrs. George R. Hennrich, Beaver Falls, president of the state council.

In addition to Taylor, three other outstanding Republican leaders were to participate in today's sessions. At this afternoon's legislative forum, to be conducted under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, Allentown; State Senators G. Mason O'Leary, Toga; and Theodore L. Bean, Montgomery, will make individual addresses on politics within the Keystone State.

The third was John Hamilton, general counsel of the Republican national committee, who with Mrs. George B. Simmons, of Marshall, Mo., was to speak at tonight's annual dinner. Henry P. Fletcher, national committee chairman, will be the chief speaker tomorrow.

The necessity of party loyalty if the voter is to derive the ultimate benefit from politics was stressed before the delegates by Mrs. W. Pitt Gifford, president of the Erie County Council of Republican Women. The activity of the average voter, Mrs. Gifford declared, "is largely futile except by a continuing allegiance to party organization."

Representatives from young Republican groups were to meet this afternoon in the young Republicans' conference of which Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Republican national committee woman from Pennsylvania, is chairman.

Tomorrow, designated as National Day and the last of the three-day sessions, will see the submission of routine committee reports, final addresses and the introduction of distinguished guests.

Film Stars Are Lax With Taxes

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 20.—Barbara Stanwyck, film star, and Frank Fay, her estranged husband, each owe the United States government $22,061 on their income taxes, it was claimed today as Nat Rogan, district director of the internal revenue filed suits against the couple and six other film luminaries.

The other defendants are Phillips Holmes, $705; Marshall Neilan, director, $754.44; Louis Monte Bell, director, $2,313.55; and his wife Betty Lawford Bell, $2,811.15; Cliff "Kekule Ike" Edwards, $40.24; and his wife, Nancy Edwards, $48.44.

SLAYER RETURNED

TO SCENE OF CRIME

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 20.—Mitchell Savaya, alias Mitchell Housey, 24, hounded here for the case murder of John Sauters at Niagara Falls, N. Y., a week ago, today decided to waive extradition and accompanied City Detective Edward J. Moran of Niagara Falls to that city to face a murder charge.

Savaya is alleged to have struck Sauters over the head with a vase and then to have cut his throat with a fragment of the urn. He at first refused to waive extradition, but did so today upon advice of relatives.

On Court House Hill

Expense accounts showing that less than fifty dollars was spent in the recent campaign have been filed at the prothonotary's office by candidates: B. J. Biondi, alderman, Fifth Ward; Raymond Dallenbach, justice of peace, Wayne township; H. E. (Frank) Biordi, council, Ellwood City; and Alex Maxwell, constable, Third Ward.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman James C. Brice has been filed in the case of James Gargasz, of Plaingrove, against Pasquale Bonanni, Volant, R. D. L. The case was one involving payment for labor and the use of machinery. Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $71, from which the defendant appeals.

Local sportsmen are interested in the forthcoming meeting of the State Game Commission, expected to be held within the next few weeks. The reason is seen in the ouster of Ernest E. Harwood, executive secretary of the commission and the pending appointment of his successor. Among those reported under consideration for the job are Seth E. Gordon, an official of the American Wild Life Institute at Washington, D. C., a former executive of the game commission, and J. C. Turner, of Ellwood City.

The Mother's Assistance Board reports that 399 persons are now receiving old age pensions in Lawrence county. This will probably be the limit that can be taken on until the legislature finds more money. It will require all of the appropriation as it now stands to take care of those who are on the rolls. The only chance of new ones being taken on at present, is when some one who is now on the rolls, dies. There have been quite a number of deaths during the past year. Some of the pensioners had only drawn two or three payments before their deaths. The board has about 1,300 applications on the waiting list.

Court house employees shake hands with themselves when they get one day's vacation on holidays, but down at Harrisburg they do things in a big way. It has just been announced that all departments under the governor's jurisdiction will be closed from Wednesday evening, November 27, until Monday morning, December 2. With four full days of rest at Thanksgiving and Christmas and New Year's in the office, the "overworked" job holders on Capitol Hill ought to be able to get a lot of "that tired feeling" out of their bones.

County commissioners have received word that there will be a meeting of engineers, railroad officials and others interested in the Edinburg bridge and viaduct project on the proposed site next Friday. At the last meeting a protest was raised by citizens before the War Department engineer, but it was found that the War Department had nothing to do with location, being only concerned in the height of the bridge above the river and clearances between piers. The chief objection of citizens seems to be that the viaduct as proposed would destroy considerable property, also that the old village of Edinburg would be entered by a "ramp" from the viaduct. This is claimed would be very dangerous. Everybody is agreed that a new bridge is needed and that there should be a viaduct over the railroad tracks north of the bridge. The principal objection is with the other sections of the improvement. If the present plans are approved it would be possible to start work within a short time.

W. L. Sutter, use of Ora L. Hooker, has instituted forcible proceedings against Charles A. Hooker, now deceased, and Norman P. Mortensen, administrator c. t. a., and Oscar Hooker and Ora Hooker, terre tenants. The original mortgage was for $2,500. It now amounts with costs, to $2,872.

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

(Copyright, 1935, Central Press Association)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Lily Pons, the warbler from Poree, was lunching in her apartment at the Madison the other afternoon when I called to pay respects.

She was gay with new projects, including movies, the Metropolitan opera, European engagements and radio. But she was blue because she had been forced to turn over her pet jaguar, grown huge and ferocious, to the Bronx Zoo.

I noted the size and starchiness of her lunch. Spaghetti with sauce and an enormous whipped cream and lady-finger dessert concoction. "Look," she crooned, "I am an on-ee o-pee-a singa who eats ze foods wit ze fat! Eef I do not eat all ze fat foods, my docthr, he say I get too thin!"

Outside my office I encountered William B. Seabrook, who wrote that strange experiment in personal history, "Asylum," and we fell to talking of many things, including old days when we wrote feature pages together for the newspapers.

Also he confessed that he had been recently in the insane asylum at Concord, N. H. which he entered by letting several days' growth of beard cover his face and by cutting up saucily in the boulevards. He stayed three weeks to gather material, from the patient's point of view, for a magazine article.

And I could not suppress the obvious joke: "How did you get out, Willie?" "I protected myself in advance on that, through friends," he said, unblinking.

Last night, finding no book on my shelf which was unread and appetizing, I plucked "Robinson Crusoe" down and read nearly half of it before bed-time.

Great was my dismay to encounter the expression, "Pent-house," in this ancient tome, for this had seemed to me as modern a cologne as any I have learned in a Manhattan decade. I think I gasped when I hit upon this expression associated with skyscraper roof dwellings of New York millionaires, in Crusoe's quaint journal, thus:

"I covered it (an umbrella) with skins, the hair upwards so that it cast off the rain like a pent-house and kept off the sun . . . effectively."

Later in the same day came an encounter with Pare Lorentz, the movie commentator, freshly back from Hollywood, and he told me a curious tale of a party at the house of Miss Connie Bennett, during which she had run off one of the films in which a rival of hers stars, to make caustic comments for the edification of guests during the screening. And once again it occurs to me what a strange town Hollywood must indeed be.

BASEBALL MEN GATHER AT DAYTON, OHIO

Many Big Deals Are "On Fire" Need Material

Pirates Could Use Good Pitcher And Catcher, Giants Want Collins

THREE CORNERED DEAL IS IN WIND

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service
Sports Writer

DAYTON, O., Nov. 20.—For the next three days this town will be the baseball capital of the United States.

The minor league moguls swung into executive session today with trade winds blowing all about their ears. Some are here to buy, others to sell and others to barter for baseball chattels on the hoof.

As usual, trade interest centered on the activities of the major league brethren, some of whom are sure to go away from here with new names on their rosters.

Pirates Need Hurriers

The St. Louis Cardinals will be dickering high, wide and handsome. They need more pitching strength, an infielder and at least one more slugger in the outfield. They have a world of trading material, including the irrepressible Pepper Martin, but not including Dizzy Dean.

The Pirates also are in the market for pitchers—as who isn't?—but they also need a catcher and may land Todd from the Phils. They might part with either or both of the Waner boys.

The Cubs are pretty well set but need a man to replace the aged Charley Root. They might be induced to part with Chuck Klein despite his fine world series showing.

Would Trade Hubbell

Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, had a beg, borrow or steal glint in his eyes this morning. Bill makes no bones about it—his Giants as new constituted won't do. He needs certain vital replacements and he intends to get them.

First of all, he wants a pitcher or two, a first baseman who can fill in for himself, a second baseman, a third baseman and he would not turn down another slugging outfielder.

In exchange for all this he might be willing to put Bud Pomeroy, Fred Fitzsimmons and even Carl Hubbell on the auction block. He also would be willing to part with (Continued On Next Page)

Eddie Donegan Brought Home From Hospital

Injured New Castle High Star Spends Very Restful Night

HAS TO WEAR SPECIAL CAST

Eddie Donegan, injured star right half-back of the New Castle high "Red Hurricane" football team, returned to his home at 140 East Leasure avenue Tuesday afternoon. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of Senior High went to New Kensington and brought Donegan home.

Enjoys Trip Home

The trip back to New Castle did not seem to bother Donegan at all. "I thoroughly enjoyed the trip home, and if it wasn't for this cast, I wouldn't know I was injured, said the popular backfield man.

EDDIE DONEGAN

In all probability Donegan will have to stay in the special cast for about three to six weeks. It all depends on how quickly the fractured sixth vertebra knits.

The football coach of New Kensington, most of all the players and many of the students visited Donegan in the Citizens' General hospital during his forced stay in New Kensington. Everybody was most kind and offered to do anything that they could to make Donegan comfortable.

Able To Walk

Mrs. Dennis Donegan, mother of the injured boy returned to New Castle with her son, as did Jack Donegan a brother. Mrs. Donegan had been in New Kensington since Sunday.

Donegan is able to walk some. He walked from the hospital entrance to Gardner's car yesterday. The doctors said that it was good for him to walk a little each day if possible. He was able also to walk in his home yesterday.

Donegan is one of the most popular of the members of the New Castle high football team, and the Donegan home will be filled to overflowing with friends and football players who will want to see Eddie.

COLLEGE GRID NOTES IN BRIEF

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Eager to return to the victory paths against Brown Saturday, the Columbia Lions were to engage in a long drill today. Developments indicate the Lions will employ a varied offensive to best the Bruins. In a long session yesterday, the varsity unloosed a tricky running attack against scrubs armed with Bruin formations, then crossed them up with a successful passing game.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 20.—Warming up for their important contest with undefeated Dartmouth Saturday, Princeton's tigers took part today in a long passing, kicking and running workout. The varsity had a taste of contact work yesterday in a line-up against the scrubs. The entire squad is in its best condition of the year.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 20.—Dick Pfefferle, huge tackle who has been on the bench since he was injured in the Ohio State game three weeks ago, is a certain Notre Dame starter against Southern California here Saturday. The big lineman worked out with the varsity in practice yesterday, held in the gymnasium because of the cold drenching rain. There is only an outside chance Andy Pilney, star of the Buckeye game, will see action, Elmer Layden said today.

Minneapolis, Nov. 20.—Sheldon Beise, fullback, and "Tuffy" Thompson, sophomore halfback, will definitely be ready to play against Wisconsin Saturday, trainers announced today, dispelling rumors the two Minnesota backs would be on the bench arising when they reported for practice in civvies yesterday.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 20.—Thirty-three strong, the University of Southern California's Trojan football team arrived here today enroute to South Bend, Ind., where they meet Notre Dame Saturday.

Coach Howard Jones put the team through a brief but stiff workout on the University of Arizona football grounds. The team will leave here later in the day arriving at Hutchinson, Kan., tomorrow for another workout.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 20.—Coach Christy Flanagan's spirited lads from Duquesne university plodded through mud and mire today strengthening their defense tactics for Saturday's invasion by Detroit University's Titans. Flanagan hoped to have most of his injured list ready for action when the opening whistle blows.

The Grand circuit may be expanded plans having been broached for holding meetings for the trotters and pacers at the Los Angeles county fair at Pomona, Calif., and at Santa Anita and San Diego after the eastern tracks close down.

Pittsburgh Pirates football team will play the Green Bay Packers, the most colorful team in the National Professional league at Forbes field, Pittsburgh, Sunday. Cal Hubbard, former Geneva college star tackle is a member of the Wisconsin eleven.

Each summer for several years, the Lions club golfers have played a weekly round of golf at the municipal course, and have followed this up with a handicap tournament.

During the course of the evening's pleasures, remarks were made by Jack Gerson, Dr. Jay L. Reed, George L. Smith, Numa P. Vidal, Jr., Ezra Marvin and Paul G. Dingledy.

After the speaking program, there was an excellent musical program, followed by lunch and cards. The evening was a most enjoyable one, and was attended by thirty Lions.

Scott high is anxious for the post-season battle. The Greensburg boys never have gone in very strong for post-season affairs. Scott and Greensburg are the only two teams considered for the championship, as they are untied and unbeaten.

Penn State To Meet Bucknell

Central Pennsylvania Will See Nip And Tuck Battle At Lewisburg

(Special To The News)
LEWISBURG, Nov. 20.—Completely dominating the collegiate grid stage for next week-end's sports dramas in Central Pennsylvania, where it is the only game scheduled for Saturday, the Bucknell-Penn State game today was reduced from a probable rout, to a nip and tuck battle with no odds offered.

The downfall of the Nittany Lions, fresh from a startling triumph over Villanova, at the hands of Penn on Saturday 33 to 6, while the Bisons were idle, dispelled much of the one-sidedness of the Bucknell-State game which previous showings had created.

Although not underrating the prowess of the Lions, Bucknell's chances today were held almost at even terms, as both elevens began opening up in drills for the game, the most important grid battle played each year in Central Pennsylvania.

The Thundering Herd will be at full strength for this all-important battle, advance ticket sales for which indicate that Memorial Stadium will be accommodating 15,000 spectators when the kickoff is made at 2:15 o'clock.

Bessemer Grid Season Success, Win Title Again

Coach J. K. Fredericks Turns Out Another Championship Team

Only Two Games Lost Out Of Seven Played, Eight Will Be Graduated

ESSEMER high school completed its 1935 football season with three victories, two ties and two defeats, and winning the Lawrence County Class B championship for the third consecutive season. This is quite an enviable record, and reflects credit on Coach Fredericks.

Lowellville, presenting the strongest team in the history of the school, was the first Class B school to defeat Bessemer in three seasons of play. Shenango's 18 to 0 win in 1932 was the last Class B victory over Bessemer.

Bessemer played its best football of the season in turning back Monaca, 12 to 0.

Season Is Success
The season can be called a success. Starting the campaign with three lettermen, only one of whom was a regular, the inexperienced group plugged along reaching their greatest efficiency in the final game of the season. The team progressed steadily through the toughest schedule that a Bessemer team has been called upon to face.

Lacking any individual stars the backfield divided scoring honors. Murphy scored three touchdowns. Poushey and Marshall two. Guy-litto, an end, scored against Zellenko on a pass and Frank Skocic recovered a blocked punt behind Shenango's goal to put Bessemer

On the roster of the Bears will be found Albert "Blackie" Adamo, Rocco Tomalello, and "Jumping Joe" Coppel. The Firemen have been practicing hard the past two weeks and will be in the best of condition for the engagement. The officials will be Kulick, Howley and Annerella.

How quickly all good and wise causes would triumph if you could get all the fools on the same side.

Garden Arranges Bout For Christmas Fund, Johnston On Way Out

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden prizefighter, has been fired so often by the sports writers, in print, that he is beginning to wonder whether it isn't soon time for him to be fired by the management, in self defense.

Johnston put on a fight between Lou Salica and the Brown Escobar for the bantam title. In drawing 8,000, the fight exceeded even our expectations. This week, he is staging a bout between Frankie Kliek and Al Roth.

The supposition is that neither Kliek nor Roth mean anything, one way or another, to the boxing game, and even less to Johnston. The match-maker may be excused for presenting the affair on the ground of self-justification. In other words, the fight might be termed the means to an end, probably a dead end.

Louis To Fight
Along in December, Joe Louis will fight for the Christmas fund under Garden auspices. The sacrificial lamb, in this instance, will be a strange gentleman by the name of Uzcudun. We love the gentleman, but we're sure the customers won't. Jacobs, who has no board of directors, will put on another Louis fight against the winner of the Ray Imbriette-Porci Smith boxing. Again, Johnston was out for coffee when the papers were drawn up.

Again, we are not blaming Johnston. In the first place, the Garden will give him no money. In the second, he's not a matchmaker. He's a manager.

Maybe there's a third place. If so, Mr. Johnston can probably supply it. He generally thinks of everything.

MANY BIG DEALS ARE "ON FIRE"

two or three youngsters like Weintraub and Danning, to say nothing of a big bundle of cash.

Giants Want Collins
Bill has his eye on Jim Collins of the Cardinals and if he can offer enough, he might land the slugging first baseman. If not, he may make a bid for Dolph Camilli of the Phillies, or, failing that, he will go after a minor leaguer.

more pressing importance, however, to the Giants is a second baseman of major league caliber, and this hombre may be much harder to find, and once located, still harder to get.

Boston Needs Players
The Reds need almost everything and the Braves need everything but a centerfielder. The Braves say they will trade or give anybody but Wally Berger and they are in the market for anything else available.

Minor league owners with promising prospects are licking their chops in anticipation of high prices for their fair haired boys but the majors insist they will not go overboard for anybody.

Open Money Bags
The American leaguers also have unloaded their money bags and loosened the strings on some of their hired hands.

The Yanks want pitchers, an infielder, and maybe two outfielders and have lots of trading material and cash to swing a deal.

Connie Mack's Pinky Higgins and Ed Coleman are wanted by Joe McCarthy. The Red Sox also would like these plus Jimmy Foss and a three-way deal might be engineered.

Clark Griffith will trade almost anybody. Connie Mack, needing only pitchers on the ball field, but needing cash in the till even more, may sell anybody and the Tigers could use two hitting outfielders to replace old Goose Goslin and Jo-Jo White. Cochrane would like to land Al Simmons out if he lands him he'll have to give plenty in exchange.

Profit-Taking Checks Market

Market Today Forced To Absorb Enormous Selling Wave

By LESLIE GOULD
Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The stock market today was forced to absorb one of the biggest waves of profit-taking since the current advance got under way eight months ago. The ticker was four minutes behind at one time.

The heavy selling brought an immediate check to the rise after the list went into new high ground at the opening under the leadership of the steels. Losses ran to a point and more during the height of the selling but the bullish nature of trade news was a supporting influence.

Power output hit a new record high for the week with a wide gain over the previous week and a year ago. The mid-weekly iron age review told of a new rise in steel operations and was generally optimistic on the industry. The day provided a new batch of favorable dividend declarations.

Bethlehem went to a new high at the start and then reacted. U. S. steel eased after opening higher. Other steel shares followed this pattern.

Radio hit a new high in huge dealings, opening with 15,000 shares. Rails were somewhat unsettled by a break of a point in B. & O. due to failure of directors yesterday to pay more than the regular dividend. The carrier list showed good support, however, and price changes were small.

Coppers and liquors were the bright spots, adding to recent gains. Merchandising issues gave up some of yesterday's advances. Farm implements were irregular. Westinghouse and other industrial favorites were reactionary. Utilities were mixed.

Cotton and grains were steady. Bonds were irregularly higher. Gold currencies continued depressed.

Large Majority Of Coal Dealers Sign Control Act

Estimate 75 Per Cent Of Coal Tonnage In Western Pa. Is Signed Up

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Sixty-five per cent of the total commercial coal tonnage of western Pennsylvania has signed up under the Guffey bituminous coal control act, it was learned today as organization of the bituminous coal board for district No. 2 was completed.

Only three major producers in this district are still outside the Guffey bill, according to B. H. Cannon, executive secretary of the board. They are the Pittsburgh Coal Company, Westmoreland Coal Company and the Union Collieries. Ralph E. Jamison of the Jamison Coal and Coke Company heads the control organization as chairman for this district.

Attack Planned
As the board completed its organization reports circulated in coal circles that the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the district's largest producer, would attack the Guffey act in federal court here before January 2, the deadline for paying the 1 1/2 per cent production tax, plus a 13 1/4 per cent tax penalty for non-compliance.

J. A. D. Morrow, president of Pittsburgh Coal, declined to comment. "I am not talking about the Guffey bill," he said.

Other reports were that the retail prices of coal will be boosted as a result of the production tax. A spokesman for a major coal company said:

"If it raises the cost of coal at the mines, it probably will follow that retail prices will be raised by both members of the producer's board and non-members."

Of the total commercial tonnage of 38,000,000 in this section, the board's membership represents about 24,700,000, Cannon said.

Seek Continuance Of Federal Suit

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Frank A. Talbot and William B. Mann filed a petition in Federal Court today seeking a continuance of their suit over alleged patent infringements against the Quaker State Oil Refining Company, Oil City, Pa. Litigation has been going on since April 26, 1932, when the original suit was brought before the Venango county court.

Today's petition declared that the Venango court had disposed of the case on June 6, 1935, and asked for a continuance here.

Broken-Hearted Woman Is Suing Lover Who Cooled

Philadelphia Woman After Courtship Of 22 Years, Asks For $35,000

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—For 22 years, according to her story on the court record today, Miss Nellie Smith, 51, had been "engaged" to Clarence L. Moore, 52, waiting only until her prospective mother-in-law might approve their marriage.
And after the 22-year wait, during which Moore became a successful business man and she turned dressmaker, her gallant swain of 1909 backed out, Miss Smith declared.

Even after 19 years of courtship, she testified, she never doubted his fidelity until 1931 when Moore allegedly became "interested" in his office stenographer. He denied it, but in 1933 told her he was "through".

Accepted Proposal.

The jilting, Miss Smith's attorneys told the court, was worth $35,000 from Moore, chief clerk in a railroad office.
They met in 1909 and June 15, 1912, he proposed and was accepted, she alleged.
Miss Smith produced 52 photographs to show their friendship over the intervening years and admitted "intimacies" with Moore. She said she was satisfied with Moore's explanation that his mother in time would "get used" to the idea of a marriage.

Moore's attorney announced he will ask the court to non-suit the case when the hearing reconvenes.

BORDER PATROL IS CONSIDERED

Special Agents May Be Employed To Curb Liquor Bootlegging

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Establishment of a "border patrol" of 450 special agents to curb the flow of bootleg liquor into Pennsylvania is under consideration by the State Liquor Control board, it was learned exclusively today.

If approved as recommended to the board, the proposed machinery would cost approximately $850,000 a year—almost double recent expenditures authorized in expansion of the enforcement program.

Seventy-five inspection stations, located at strategic border points on the West Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland lines, are suggested in the plan. Highway patrol and revenue department gas tax inspection stations already established would be used along the Ohio border.

No action has been taken on the proposal by the liquor board, the sponsor of the "patrol" idea made it clear. Engrossed in other phases of administration, the three board members have deferred making a decision on the recommendation pending a study of its feasibility and of results yet to be shown by the 125 new enforcement officers being added under the recently approved expansion.
